

I am opposed to your consideration of weakening our privacy act by allowing the CBA to challenge this law. I don't believe that if I do business with someone, this gives them an exemption status [or the right] to contact me whenever they want. This is what the Indiana Privacy Act is about. I don't think that banks or other institutions should be exempt from following the law, or trying to bend it to suit them.